Vumii a Winner in Competition for Most Innovative Security Product

2006 Security Summit Recognizes Vumii with Security Innovation Award

SAN DIEGO, June 28, 2006 - Adding to its growing list of industry accolades and acknowledgments, Vumii was recognized today at the 2006 Security Summit for its advancements in security technology. The Security Innovation Award Competition named Vumii runner up for most innovative security product, part of the Important Security Products and Services Competition that opened the conference.

The Security Summit is a non-profit conference produced by the Security Network, a non-profit organization created to bring together key constituents for the purpose of launching San Diego as the premier center in the U.S. for the development of dual usage security technologies and the development and implementation of effective regional security.

The Security Network is a non-partisan organization dedicated to enhancing U.S. security by "Fostering Innovation through Collaboration." As part of its mission to develop effective regional security and be a national security resource, Security Network hosts an Annual Security Summit, this year on June 28-29.

About Vumii

Vumii is a leading provider of sophisticated surveillance technologies that are revolutionary in practicality as well as performance. Vumii leverages expertise in electro-optics and image processing to develop advanced, affordable visualization and image interpretation tools that easily integrate with existing security systems. Vumii technologies greatly enhance prevention and response to critical physical security concerns, particularly for outdoor perimeter security in the transportation, critical infrastructure and government sectors. Current products include Discoverii, the first affordable long-range day/night vision camera system, and Sensorii, breakthrough situational awareness and image navigation software that dramatically improves orientation and usability for pan-tilt-zoom cameras.
